

Carbon Dioxide Processing Plant

On August 2, 2003, the Utah Supreme Court unanimously overturned a Public Service Commission decision to allow Questar Gas Company to collect rates from Utah gas customers for a plant built to remove carbon dioxide from gas supplies. The Committee argued that the company did not prove its prudence in building the plant with an affiliate company and thus should not be allowed to recapture those costs from ratepayers.

To examine the Supreme Court Order click

<http://www.commerce.utah.gov/ccs/docs/supremecourt.pdf>

To examine the Salt Lake Tribune article on the order click

<http://www.sltrib.com/2003/Aug/08022003/utah/80625.asp>

To examine the Deseret News article on the issue, browse to:

<http://deseretnews.com/dn/view/0,1249,510044248,00.html>